

..... ALLEN, Charles R., 1862-1938. Philosopher. Famous
 . pioneer in job-analysis and conference methods of CUT . teaching and teacher-training in vocational educa. tion of less than college grade. Born and educated
 . in Massachusetts. Mass. Inst. Tech., B.S., 1885;
 . Harvard, M.A., 1903; Stout Institute (Wis.), D.Sc.,
 . 1927. First Supervisor and Teacher-Trainer, Trade and Ind. Ed., in Mass. Educational Consultant, Fed.
 Bd. Voc. Ed., and U.S. Office of Education, 1924-1934.
 Associate Editor, Voc Ed. Mag., 1922- Prolific writer. Author and co-author: "Lab. Exercises and El. Physics," Holt, 1895; "The Instructor, the Man and the Job," Lippincott, 1919, 1922; "The Foreman and His Job," Lippincott, 1922; "Voc. Ed. in a Democracy," with C. A.
 Prosser, Century, 1925; "Supervision of Voc. Ed. of Less Than College Grade," Wiley, 1926; "Have We Kept the Faith?" with C. A. Prosser, Century, 1929; "Efficiency in Voc. Ed.," with J. C. Wright, Wiley, 1929; "Managing Minds," with H. A. Tieman, Century, 1932. Writer of many bulletins and articles. In Agricultural Career Education, for a generation a valued and now a gratefully remembered consultant.
 For a characteristic article, see his "Getting Educational Value Out of Supervised Practice," in Chapter , first published in our mag. Agricultural Education. And for a record of the high esteem ~~in which~~ he so eminently earned, see the Dr. Prosser tribute IN MEMORIAM on p. , ~~when~~ ~~an~~ ~~article~~ which first appeared on p. 188 in the September, 1938, issue of The American Vocational Journal.

 J. C. Wright and R. W. Stimson.

Allen, C. R.

