

AUSTIN, Everett Lewis, 1891- Of Hoosier farmer stock. General and dairy farming experience. Moores Hill College, A. B. - 1917; Purdue University, B. S. - 1918; B. S. in Agriculture - 1923; Cornell University, Ph. D. - 1928, major in agricultural education. Teacher of vocational agriculture and assistant to state supervisor, Indiana - 1918-1926; head of teacher training, Michigan - 1929-1939; teacher trainer and assistant to state supervisor, Rhode Island, 1939 - ... Travelled extensively in Europe, Canada and Mexico. Ardent advocate of "teaching students instead of teaching subjects." Has spent much time and effort in improving teaching methods and materials other than books and classrooms. Believes that motion pictures and other visual and auditory aids should supplement practice as the foundation for the most effective teaching of vocational agriculture. Owes a perpetual debt of gratitude ~~for~~ professional leadership to Dr. Z. M. Smith of Indiana and Dr. C. H. Lane, U. S. Office of Education. - F. W. Lathrop.
