 Agt., 1933-1934. Selected by then Indian Affairs Acting Dir. of Ed., A. C. Monahan, to be Supervisor of ag. ed. at Govt. boarding schools for Indians; because of his placement ability, and his understanding of practical and scientific preparation of boys and girls for farm life.
 Studied local needs. Set up programs in over 30 schools in 12 States from Canada line to Mexican border, adjusted to widely different types of farming in that vast area. Secured adequate equipment and facilities for teaching. Worked on livestock improvement. Organized Indian boys and girls in associations like the Future Farmers of America. Able to select right men, and to provide them teacher-training and supervision.
 A notably successful leader in Indian Education.
