

HOWARD, Carl Gooch, 1895 - Of Illinois parentage. Farm experience in youth. University of Illinois, B.S., 1917; University of Wyoming, M.S., 1931. Nearly thirty years a teacher, supervisor and teacher trainer. Orchardng, agricultural engineering, and service in World War I took some time from the vocational agriculture service. Taught vocational agriculture in Nebraska, New Mexico and Wyoming for 11 years, being selected as Wyoming's first Master Teacher of Vocational Agriculture in 1929. Served as State Supervisor in Wyoming for six years and teacher trainer in agriculture for some ten years in Idaho and New Mexico. Taught in summer school at several colleges for the upgrading of teachers of vocational agriculture. Active in the analysis and organization of teaching material for vocational agriculture. Carl Howard is possessed of a firm conviction and self-confidence as well as full faith in the soundness of his plans, ideas and philosophy pertaining to his chosen vocation. For him this has aided in making his stand and position known to his fellow workers and students.

-- E. J. Johnson

Howard, C. G. N. Mex.