..... SNEDDEN, David, 1868- Ancestry, Scotch-Irish. Born in
: Havilah, So. Central California; and there grew up on
: a beef cattle ranch, far from schools and shops, so shared
CUT : in every kind of range or cowboy work and allied farming, ~~xxx~~ 1909-1916 : until 18, and vacations until 28. Part owner; and in his
: Holiday letter, dated "Early in January, 1944," wrote ~~xxxxxx~~
..... friends: "As an established custom since settling in California",
: at Palo Alto in 1936, "David still spends..... two or more weeks
: twice each year in sharing work with his nephews in the semi-annual cattle
: drives of the ancestral range," from "low" grazing land to "high" and back.
: As Mass Com. Ed., 1916-1917, and Prof. Ed. Sociol., Teachers College,
: Columbia Univ., 1916-1936, he vigorously promoted ag. ed. in schools. See
: ag. ed. chapters in his "Voc. Ed.," Macmillan; "Ed. Sociol.," Century;
: and "Ed. Sociol. for Beginners," Macmillan. In 1943, he wrote this compiler
: er: "I count myself a 'realist' in ed. theory. Hence.....I have always
: tried to promote ed. programs based on present day realities..... No al: leged voc. ed. before age 18; no general ag. or other voc. ed., but always
: 'specialized' according to the economic production evolutions of our
: Country....." Consistently, 1910-1916, coast to coast, he untiringly ad-
: vocated "Project" and "Job Analysis" methods of ed. for immediate em-
: ployment, beginning at age 14; and justly, with Paul H. Hanus and others,
: he will be gratefully remembered as a pioneer who helped to pave the way
: for the 1917 Smith-Hughes Act and the ensuing development in public schools
: nationwide of education in vocational agriculture. -- R. W. Stimson.
